Why this project is required

The Balmaha area has large seasonal variations of population due to tourism, which has an impact on the operation of the current works.

The current Wastewater Treatment Works at Balmaha needs to be upgraded to ensure it meets the needs of the local community due to population increases since it was last modified in 2002.

The upgrading of the works will also ensure it will be able to operate if the population increases in the future, which will help in the elimination of growth constraints within the village.
